

Heritage Oak Hiking Trail

The trail starts at the winery. Park your car beneath the giant blue oak. Stop by the tasting room to let us know you will be going for a hike and pick up a bottle of wine.

From the parking lot, follow the sign that leads you southward down a dirt path between the vineyards. On your right are Chardonnay vines, on your left are Sauvignon Blanc.

At the end of the vineyards, you approach the oak trees. Veer to the left and follow the trail as it skirts the bluff overlooking the river bottom. As the trail begins to descend down into the river bottom, it joins a gravel road. Follow this road downward through the "Tree Tunnel."

As the road begins to flatten out, make a sharp hairpin turn to the right. After making the turn, step over the cable or go through the turnstile. Then stay on the road as you make your way across the flood plain to the river on the other side. When the road makes a "T" intersection with the levee road, go to your right, then through another turnstile. Don't worry about the Keep Out signs. Follow the road around a bend to the beach. There you will find picnic tables. Feel free to wade in the water or walk around the meadow.

From the "T" intersection to the left the road parallels the river. Follow it around past where the river makes a sharp point and walk back through the vineyard to the hairpin turn and back up to the parking lot. From the winery to the beach and around the levee and back is almost 2.5 miles.
